Diversity in workplace creates greater sharing of ideas — Chartis

KUALA LUMPUR: Diversity in the workplace creates greater sharing of ideas, problem solving through different viewpoints and better company performance through alternate leadership styles for the betterment of the organisation, says Chartis Malaysia Insurance Bhd.

In a statement yesterday, its chief executive officer, Matt Harris, said the company believed that diversity provided a distinct advantage in an era when flexibility and creativity were keys to competitiveness.

“One of the many benefits we get from a diverse work culture is creativity, something we strive for in today’s ever changing market,” he said.

The statement said Harris will represent Chartis Malaysia at the Women in Leadership Forum, which will be held from Feb 16-17, 2012 at the Royale Chulan here. — Bernama
